

The automotive industry employs over 360,000 people nationally and contributes $38 billion to the Australian economy. Currently Australia wide there are 22,000 positions unfilled across the industry.

Kick start your automotive career with the Women in Auto Trades pre-apprenticeship course

Are you interested in a career in the automotive industry?

Women in Auto Trades along with its industry partners are offering females 17 years and older the opportunity to enrol in a pre-apprenticeship auto trade course at Sydney TAFE.

The course starts on Monday 10 November and is a great training and employment initiative designed to give you hands-on experience in auto trades and encourage women to apply for an automotive apprenticeship.

Students who successfully complete the training will be offered an opportunity to apply for trade apprenticeship positions in the industry with participating automotive industry partners.

Want to join the dynamic auto industry?

Come to our information and recruitment session at Ultimo College on Wednesday 29 October 2014 at 6.00pm - 7.00pm.

Industry partners

This training is subsidised by the NSW State Government in partnership with the Commonwealth Government.

Fees

$267 (Further subsidies may apply for some participants)

Course location

Ultimo College, Building Q
Jones St Mall, Ultimo

Course date

- > Starts 10 November 2014
- > 3 days per week for Term 4 2014

Entry requirements

Information and recruitment session will be conducted on 29 October 2014

Register your interest by contacting Glenn Martyn at Glenn.Martyn@tafensw.edu.au or on (02) 9217 3421